About Gold Island

Gold Island Inc. is a Canadian gold exploration company with a large portfolio of properties in Newfoundland.

The Company holds seven highly prospective claim blocks totalling 1,649 square kilometres. The areas were selected by renowned prospector Shawn Ryan following exhaustive research of regional geological and structural data. Most have seen minimal modern gold exploration but encompass known geological controls to gold mineralisation in this emerging gold province. Several claim blocks have never been staked or systematically explored for gold.

The Gold Island team is led by Adrian Fleming, a geologist with a track record of exploration success and credited with important discoveries in PNG, Australia, South America and Canada. Key components for successful gold exploration and value creation for shareholders are; properties, people, financial resources and methodology.

'We look forward to introducing the Gold Island story to Newfoundland Gold's extensive audience and to share why our team is so excited for the exploration work ahead in Canada's newest and emerging gold province. We encourage interested parties to register to learn more about the Company and ask any questions they may have,' stated Adrian Fleming, Chief Executive Officer.
